

Bryan Throws Convention Into Turmoil; Deadlock On 38 Ballots

Bryan's Sensational Address Brings Cheers, Boos and Questions As He Endorses Eight Candidates

BY ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Correspondent)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, July 2.—William Jennings Bryan, threw the Democratic National Convention into a turmoil this afternoon when he took the platform and after naming over a list of some seven men whom he regarded as fit for the presidential nomination wound up with a ringing endorsement for Wm. G. McAdoo.

He endorsed A. A. Murphy of Florida, Josephus Daniels of North Carolina, Jos. E. Robinson of Arkansas, Samuel Ralston of Indiana, Charles G. Bryan of Nebraska, Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, E. T. Meredith of Iowa and William G. McAdoo.

Bryan was in his old-time fighting form.

He characterized McAdoo as a progressive and the "man who had made it possible for the present convention to be progressive."

He had not mentioned Governor Al Smith in his list up to that time, and a reference to the candidate having to have a clear record on liquor law enforcement led some Smith delegates to think he was taking a deliberate thrust at the Governor. As McAdoo was named by Bryan the California delegates leaped to their feet, cheering and waving flags.

The Smith delegates rushed into the aisles in an angry mood. Shouts of derision, bitter invectives were hurled at the Commoner. "Get down, you haven't a friend in the world."

"Oil, oil, oil," came from other directions.

Ugly shouts demanding that the galleries be cleared.

A delegate standing at the top of his lungs demanded that Bryan recognize him.

"How can you stand there and endorse a man who accepted money from oil interests in that great scandal that has been exploded?" he demanded.

The convention was in a turmoil. Bryan beat upon the speaker's table and pleaded for order.

"I have made speeches for a long time," he cried at the top of his voice, "and I do not make statements unless I am ready to answer questions. Just be quiet and I'll answer your questions."

"Oh—no, get on," came answering cries.

Ed Moore, head of the Ohio delegation jumped to his feet and yelled: "Go ahead, name who you think it should be, we know."

There were many cries from the floor that Bryan thought he was the man himself.

"What's the matter with Smith?" came a cry.

"Give me time to develop my subject in my own way," Bryan shouted back.

"If you have any preference about sections, take your choice. If it's necessary I'll furnish a list that would keep you voting until the next election."

"Now I shall tell you why I am for one who fits to this occasion. I think it is necessary to name a progressive. Our candidate must be a man whose record on the liquor question is such that every mother will know her home will be protected. I have given you the names of men whose position will not be questioned on the matter of law enforcement."

"All that was done in the last congress was progressive. We did it with the aid of representative progressives and the endorsement we gave them in our platform is the only endorsement they will get."

"If we attempt to nominate a reactionary—which I consider impossible in this convention—we could not draw reactionaries from the Republican party. We have tried it before. This year the reactionaries shall not take us upon a mountain and promise us land that they cannot deliver."

"Now I mention the one who made it possible for us to have a progressive platform. If he had not made the fight we would not have a progressive convention today. But because of a courageous leadership we have a progressive convention. The man who is entitled to the credit whether you nominate him or not, is William Gibbs McAdoo."

At the mention of McAdoo's name hisses, boos and jeers crashed against opposing cheers and shouts of applause.

"The oil man, how about the oil man?" came up from the floor.

Individuals tried to make speeches denouncing McAdoo's oil connections.

"Oil, oil, oil," came first from this one and then from that.

"I'm from Jersey City," cried one man. "I voted for you three times."

"Will the gentleman inform me of his state?"

"I'm from New Jersey," was the reply, "and I voted for you every time you ran for president and I'm sorry."

The speaker on the floor said his name was Joseph P. Fitzpatrick of Jersey City.

"Allow me to answer the gentleman's question," Bryan started again.

"You have said Senator Walsh is the greatest investigator in the United States. Senator Walsh has exposed the fact that McAdoo was employed by Duoheny."

"I will answer the question," Bryan promised.

"Some one yelled: 'Give him time—give him 20 years.'"

"Are you not as willing to have an answer as you were to ask a question?" Bryan asked.

"The gentleman asks about McAdoo's retainer from Mr. Duoheny. Let me answer that," he continued.

"McAdoo's retainer had to do with oil in Mexico. But I'll go further than that. If any oil has ever touched W. G. McAdoo the fact and fervent opposition of Wall Street washed all the oil away. No man who allows Wall Street to influence his action has any right to criticize McAdoo."

"I want to present an issue larger than any man," Bryan said.

"Is Youngstown, Ohio, in Mexico, where he got $200,000 for getting Texas back?" interrupted Dennis Dunlevy of Ohio.

"You dodged to something else—you are not willing to hang the case on oil," Bryan retorted.

"How about the coal contract in Italy—do you excuse that too?" shouted another heckler.

"The same old dollar bill," several shouted.

"The bar associations have the right to disbar him if he has been voting unethically," Bryan continued speaking for McAdoo. "But I want to speak of something more important than men."

Ed Moore of Ohio called for the return to the regular business.

Walsh refused to recognize any motions.

"The speaker has 20 minutes and cannot be interrupted," Walsh said. More attempted to appeal from the decision of the chair.

RECOVER FLAG STOLEN FROM U. S. EMBASSY

BY FRANK HEIGES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

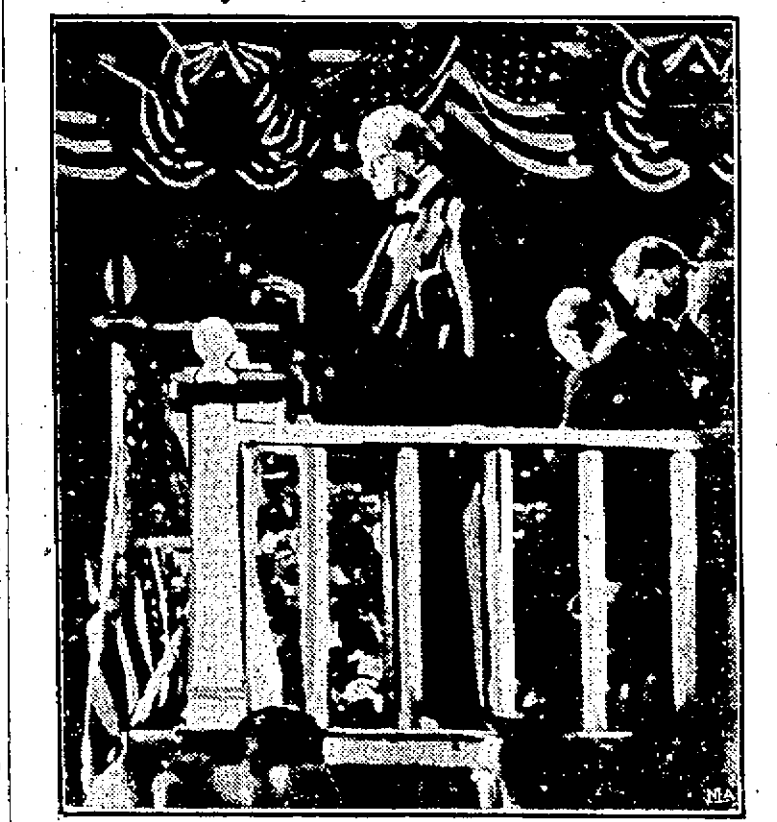

TOKIO, July 2.—Two men involved in the incident of Monday when the American flag was torn down and stolen from the American embassy building are under arrest and have confessed.

The man who actually stole the flag, however, is still at large.

The flag was recovered from a laborer's hotel where it was hidden and will be restored to the American embassy by the Japanese authorities.

Information given in the confession of the two men under arrest—one of whom was Ryuki Hamada, prominent member of the Anti-Bolshevik society, led to the recovery.

When Bryan Debated Klan Issue

William Jennings Bryan, caught at a critical moment in the Democratic convention debate on the issue of whether or not the Klan would be named in a platform plank, Bryan pleaded against making the Klan an issue and his appeal had an important bearing on the vote.

Tennis Fans Say French Star Developed "Cold Feet"

(BY HENRY L. FARRELL)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WIMBLEDON, ENG., July 2.—(By the United Press)—Once more that stormy petrel of the courts, the fearless, Volcanic Champion of France, Suzanne Lenglen, has developed a cold foot.

Information given in the confession of the two men under arrest—one of whom was Ryuki Hamada, prominent member of the Anti-Bolshevik society, led to the recovery.

British and American tennis fans writhed with impotent anger today over the action of Suzanne Lenglen in abandoning the All-Comers' Championships at Wimbledon.

Suzanne's family announced this morning that her doctor had ordered her to bed for a couple of weeks.

But British and Americans are outspoken in declaring the French girl had "cold feet." They are arguing among themselves as to whether it was Miss Helen Wills or Miss McKane that was feared so much by Lenglen.

It is customary when defaulting, to make no excuses, they point.

Helen Wills refused to comment beyond saying:

"I am certainly sorry that Miss Lenglen had to default the championship."

Lenglen dropped a set to Elizabeth Ryan Monday, but beat the former California girl after a hard battle. She announced her withdrawal almost immediately afterwards.

Miss McKane, who was to have played the French champion in the semi-finals advanced to the final brackets, by default and will meet the winner of the match between Miss Wills and Mrs. Satterthwaite scheduled for today.

Entries Bunched In Democratic Marathon; "Dark Horse" Expected To Win Honors On Stretch

NEW YORK, July 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The Democratic National Convention today went into its fifth session of balloting for a presidential nominee with no definite indication of a break in the deadlock between William G. McAdoo and Alfred E. Smith.

Called at 10:30 a. m. eastern daylight saving time to begin the third first roll call, the delegates were still divided among 13 candidates, a record high for this stage of a national convention race.

McAdoo and Smith were, as before, in the lead, with John W. Davis well up in third place, out of the dark horse division, and Senator Ralston, of Indiana, although sixth in the voting on the third roll call, a much discussed contender. James A. Cox, of Ohio, retained fourth place and Senator Underwood, of Alabama, held the fifth.

The managers of all the leading contenders continued to express confidence after the 30th ballot and kept on working into the early hours. What happened at their little conferences remained to be seen in today's events.

McAdoo Shows Weakness

Of the leaders, McAdoo was the only one to show a declining tendency through the fifteen ballots yesterday, while Davis displayed the greatest gain of strength. The McAdoo workers, however, predicted victory today, and David L. Rockwell, manager of the state public utilities commission.

Means No Longer Can Boast That He Has Never Been Convicted

NEW YORK, July 2.—(By United Press)—Gaston B. Means no longer can boast as he did before the Daugherty investigating committee in Washington: "I've been indicted for everything from murder down, but they never convicted me."

The round, gimlet-eyed ex-department of justice investigator today faced a sentence of two years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. So did his aide, Elmer W. Jansche, with whom Means was found guilty yesterday of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

They were to be sentenced by Judge Wolverton in Federal District Court either today or tomorrow.

Few who were present will forget the malicious drawl and the twisted smile with which Means only informed Senator Wheeler of the Senatorial investigating committee that he had been suspended and indicted a score of times, but that none ever had been pinned upon him. And the legal fight which means put up to avoid this, his first conviction, was unique. He dragged in names of Secretary Mellon and hinted at scandalous disclosures, but it took the jury only an hour to bring in its verdict of guilty.

Mrs. Means and their six-year old son, were in court.

Lorain Continues Digging Self Out Of Debris Left By Storm

LORAIN, O., July 2.—(By the Associated Press)—While this city continued today to dig itself out of the ruins wrought by Saturday's tornado, Governor Vile Donahy and a committee appointed by him to aid in bringing order out of chaos and to rebuilding the city.

Order and systematic relief having been established, considerable progress is being made in clearing up the wreckage. The two principal thoroughfares, Broadway and Erie streets, have been cleared and practically all streets have been opened to traffic.

Only in residences fit for habitation has there been any attempt to put things in order or to make repairs. Most repair work has been of only temporary nature. Hundreds of demolished residences have not yet been explored for dead.

Work of clearing the ruins of the State Theatre, where authorities believe there may still be a few bodies, continues with the aid of steam shovels. The list of dead remained at 65 early today.

Stricter military control was in effect on Broadway last night, where a number of wrecked buildings are located. Even high ranking officers, not directly connected with units doing guard duty there were not permitted to pass through the lines.

Fire apparatus accompanied by officers and responding to alarms also was required to halt and present identification before being permitted to pass, according to reports to Brigadier General John R. McGuire, commanding officer. Sentry squads on other streets were not as tight as previously however.

So great is the amount of personal property recovered from the ruins that the military today established "effects depots" throughout the effect area where all property is to be taken and delivered to the owner upon proper identification.

National officers of the Red Cross arriving yesterday made a survey and completed organization for relief work. They were to meet today with Governor Donahy and the general state relief committee.

Local telegraph offices reported a heavy receipt of telegrams from Europe inquiring about relatives.

Mexico Suspends Debt Agreement

NEW YORK, July 2.—Citing seven reasons in explanation for the default, President Obregon of Mexico, has announced the temporary suspension of Mexico's debt agreement with the international committee of bankers in a cable to his financial agent here.

Placing most of the blame on his former Finance Minister, Adolfo de la Huerta for misrepresentation in arranging the loan, Obregon goes into lengthy detail for the government's reason in failing to pay on June 30 the interest due on its recognized debt of $700,000,000.

The decree said a great number of both civil and government officials and employees had not been paid for several months in an effort to make good the interest due, but gave assurance the government expected to be able to pay up all the accumulative interest due the bankers by the end of this year.

Smith Forces May Attempt To Break McAdoo's Strength By Aiding Davis Or Underwood

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1924)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 2.—William Gibbs McAdoo led in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination today with every indication that the Smith forces would attempt to break his strength by throwing their votes either to Senator Underwood of Alabama or John W. Davis of West Virginia.

The chances of a victory for Davis appear brightest at the moment as he has a strong following in both the McAdoo and Smith camps.

But many things will happen before the break up of either the McAdoo or Smith groups. The strategy being played today by the rival generals is indeed interesting as it combines all the tricks of previous conventions plus a certain amount of psychology that attacks every break. No tactician can predict with accuracy what will be the result of any particular move.

The plan today was for the McAdoo general, to watch the Smith leaders to see how much of the reserve strength of the New York Governor is put into line. The Smith people have from forty to sixty more votes which McAdoo has about 82 more which he hopes to get before tonight and then having a majority the California candidate would stand before the convention just as old Clark at Baltimore in 1912 hoping the delegates will in effect disregard the two thirds rule by giving him the remaining votes. Some of the things which may be expected before night appear as follows:

Text Of Bryan's Speech

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 2.—(By the United Press)—When Florida was reached on the 38th ballot today, W. J. Bryan asked permission to go to the platform and explain his vote. Amidst mingled boos and cheers he went to the platform apparently to speak on the situation that has grown out of the deadlock.

"I have but one desire," Bryan said, "and this is to obtain victory for the Democratic party."

"All of us are liable to be influenced by environment. Man's feelings about what he wishes to be are based very largely on what is his environment. Now I have felt that if we could have a campaign long enough to get acquainted with each candidate as well as what he advocates, it would be much easier to make a selection."

"I ask no one to accept my opinion on any authority. I only ask that they consider my reasons for my conclusions. I think this is the spirit in which we all should meet."

Deadlock Must Be Broken Or There's Going To Be Breadline

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., July 2.—(United Press)—If the deadlock isn't broken today, there's going to be a breadline around the garden soon.

Delegates who came here ten days ago to dine in state are now taking their meals in one-arm establishments, the restaurant next door. Their money is low and many are returning home.

Even the political moguls who dictate the minds of the delegates have no control over their stomachs and regard this new trend as more important than any other in the big decision as to who is to be the next Democratic presidential nominee.

The exodus of votes was started last night when nearly fifty are reported to have departed to their homes with their pockets empty after a sally into the absorbing galaxy of New York.

The movement has reached such seriousness, the higher class hotels are being vacated. Some of the delegates are moving to cheaper quarters.

Moore Stepped Out As Floor Leader Of Ohio For Harmony

NEW YORK, July 2.—(By United Press)—At the Ohio caucus Tuesday night, Ed. Moore, National Democratic committeeman from Ohio and Cox's manager in 1920, relinquished floor leadership of the Buckeye contingent to a move to promote harmony within the Ohio group and preserve intact the 48 votes for Cox.

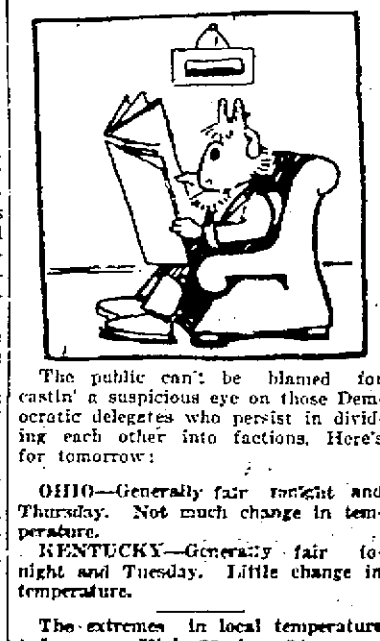

This move was aimed at healing the wound between W. W. Durbin, State Central Committee chairman, and Moore at least for the period of this convention. A "secreting committee" of five was named by James Campbell, chairman of the delegation.

J. Henry Goetze of Lima was made head of this, with Ed. Moore, W. A. Julian of Cincinnati, former Senator Alice Tomerene, George White of Marietta, the members. This was pure political gingerbread, a palpable harmony maneuver, because Moore went right out after the caucus Tuesday night with a hearty approval of the

The good news was given out by the officials of the Portsmouth Works, Wabash Steel Corporation, that a big portion of the plant would resume operations. The blooming mill and eighteen inch continuous mill will start operations at 6 o'clock a. m. Saturday, July 5; sheet mills Nos. sixteen to twenty-three inclusive will resume operations at 7:30 a. m. Monday, July 7th; the two and three high jacking mills will resume operations Sunday at midnight, July 6. While no news was given out at the office, outside of the resumption of these various departments, it would seem that quite a lot of good orders have been received. The mill at this place has been running fairly well, much better than other similar plants throughout the country. The news that these departments are to resume caused a splendid feeling among business men of Portsmouth, for it will mean quite an impetus to local conditions.

Seeks Divorce

In a petition filed Tuesday afternoon, through his attorney Joseph T. Mickelthwait, Willard Monroe asks for a divorce from his wife, Helen Dillon Monroe, to whom he was married June 10th. In his petition Mr. Monroe says that while they were on the second day of an intended two weeks' honeymoon at Houghton Lake, Mich., said defendant professed to be very homesick, and requested said plaintiff to bring her home at once; that he tried to dissuade her from such unreasonable action, but to no avail; that he thereupon immediately left Houghton Lake with his wife, arriving in Portsmouth at the mother's home two days later, by motor, on Sunday, June 22, just six days after their marriage.

He avers further "That up to this time the defendant had been most agreeable and companionable to plaintiff, but that upon their arrival at the home of the defendant's mother, his wife for some unknown reason commenced to work herself up into a tantrum about everything in general, and nothing in particular, finally declaring she did not love plaintiff; that she would not live with plaintiff; that she was forever through with the plaintiff."

The petition states that the plaintiff was then told to leave the house by his wife, and did so. On the next day he avers he called on his wife in "order to persuade and induce her, if possible, to live with him, but that his kind overtures seemed to outrage the defendant, who said she would rather be dead than live with him; swore at him, called him vile names, threatened to poison herself, and cre-

N. &amp; W. ENGINEER IS HIT BY TRAIN

George V. Agee, well known N. & W. freight engineer on the Cincinnati division was seriously injured and had a narrow escape from being killed when struck by the engine of N. & W. freight first 84 at Peabees about 11:15 o'clock this morning. He was on an N. & W. local bound for Cincinnati and when his train stopped at Peabees he went over to another train. He was crossing the tracks to get back to his own train when struck by the east bound freight. Mr. Agee noticed the train approaching but underestimated its speed and failed to get into the clear in time. He was tossed to one side of the track and his head was cut by cinders and ballast along the tracks. It also sustained a serious bruise on the right arm and right side. It is thought that no bones were broken but an x-ray will be taken to determine the extent of the injury to the side. It is feared that he sustained serious internal injuries.

Mr. Agee was given first aid at Peabees and when a C. & O. S. 4 east bound freight reached Peabees he was placed aboard and brought to Portsmouth. On arrival here he was removed to his home and attended by N. & W. physician Albert Berndt. The train crew of first 84 did not know until they reached the East Portsmouth terminal that their engine had struck Mr. Agee.

It is further averred that on Friday, June 27th the plaintiff at the urgent request of the defendant's mother, went to the defendant's home at which time it was advised by a doctor in charge that the defendant's condition was removed and an operation followed; that he remained at the hospital all day Friday and until noon the next day when the defendant was taken to her mother's home.

It is averred that the plaintiff returned to his work Monday, June 30, and at noon when he went for his lunch the defendant worked herself into another tantrum, declaring she

Will Contest Case

City Solicitor Sherrard M. Johnson is preparing a bill of exceptions to the finding for plaintiff recently in the suit of the Mitchell Manufacturing Co., against the city, and will appeal the case, he asserts, if unable to obtain a retrial in Common Pleas Court, motion for which has been filed.

Judd Pleaded Guilty; Sentenced When Donald Judd, 10 years old, of 1825 Eleventh street, indicted for breaking into a storehouse in the night season, was brought into Common Pleas court Wednesday he pleaded guilty to the bill returned against him a few minutes before by the Scioto County grand jury, and Judge Thomas sentenced him to an indeterminate term in the Mansfield Reformatory.

Judd, who was jointly indicted with Frank Connolly, circus follower, for breaking and entering into the Hibbs Hardware company establishment on Sixth street, on the night of June 6, in a statement to the court insisted that Connolly "framed" the job and induced him to participate in the attempted burglary. He appealed for another chance, insisting that he had never been in trouble before and his statement was supported by Prosecutor Skelton and Sheriff Dunham. Connolly, the other man, it will be remembered, escaped from the city prison while waiting for preliminary hearing and is still at large.

The complaint against the Johnson youth is an aftermath of some difficulty with John Fields, also colored, son of William Fields, of Fifteenth street last Monday, when young Johnson struck the Fields boy in the head with a brick when the latter frightened him with an artificial snake, it is claimed. The condition of the Fields boy was reported as serious today and he may not recover from the injury inflicted.

Mr. McCowen Issues Statement; Registration Days Are Fixed

The fight for the control of the Republican County Central Committee cropped out in last night's meeting of the Election Board when Harsha-Cunningham leaders presented the withdrawals of nine candidates sponsored by the E. O. McCowen organization.

Mr. McCowen countered with withdrawals of four candidates opposing him and nullified three of the withdrawals of his candidates by bringing in their requests to reconsider and remain on the ballot. The result left the Harsha-Cunningham group with an apparent gain of two insofar as the withdrawal scrap is concerned, but with the claim by the McCowen organization of a net gain in reality.

Dead line for withdrawing nominating petitions is Thursday so that the jockeying for positions on the committee may not be ended yet. Withdrawal of Harry B. Johnson as a candidate for sheriff was accepted.

Immediately upon opening of the meeting, which was held at the office of the Board with all members present, withdrawals of the nine McCowen candidates were submitted, as follows: O. S. Caskey, New Boston "A"; Berner H. Bleyer, New Boston "B"; R. Thaw King, New Boston "C"; Lewis Schneller, First Ward "D"; N. Glen Edwards, Fourth Ward "A"; George Davis, Sixth Ward "B"; James Miles, Second Ward "D"; V. M. Hambo, Madison township and Robert Seaman, Union township.

Since the McCowen organization had filed with the Board communications from three candidates, who had signed their withdrawals, this prevented unfavorable action on that number of the nine candidates.

The Election Board unanimously agreed to the action requested, dropping the names of the first six named from the roll of candidates and leaving the last three named for placing on the ballots.

Mr. McCowen also presented withdrawals of the candidates of John Baker, Bloom "B"; Theodore Cook, Bloom "A"; Frank Parsh, Second Ward "D"; and Alfred N. Winters, Sixth Ward "C," here being no objection, nominating petitions for these candidates were also withdrawn by unanimous agreement of the Board.

The withdrawal of Mr. Johnson as a candidate for sheriff was approved. The Board then passed to consideration of bids for printing of ballots for the August election, and awarded a contract to the Keystone Press, on their bid of $10.00 per thousand, for 13,050 Republican ballots and 9600 Democratic ballots. Other bidders were the Kuhn-Patterson Printing Co. and the Gully Printing Co.

Registration days were fixed for the registering of new voters and of transfers, July 30, July 31, August 6, 7 and 8. The office of the Board will be open on these days from 9 o'clock a. m. until 1 o'clock p. m. and from 4 until 9 p. m.

J. Earl Chandler, who had left the room while action was being taken on the withdrawals of candidates, returned at this juncture, presenting a communication over the name of Frank Parsh, asking to cancel his withdrawal. As the withdrawal had already been acted upon, the Board did not reopen the case, and adjourned.

After the meeting Mr. McCowen issued the following statement:

After the withdrawals and reconsiderations are over, I am very much gratified by the results as I know that in the candidates left unopposed our organization has a net gain regardless of surface indications.

"While the interchange of withdrawals and reconsiderations leaves the other faction with an apparent gain of two, I am very gratified by the result as I feel that in the candidates left unopposed, our organization has made a net gain of two, unrecognizable by surface indications.

"It is a source of extreme pleasure to note that so few of the candidates opposing our organization withdrew. When it is considered that the Postmaster Harsha, ex-Sheriff Erskine, Ed. Cunningham, J. Earl Chandler and some, though not all, of the officials at the court house, had been going forth in relays for repeated efforts to take our candidate out of the field, I am very gratified by the evidence of their stability in refusing to withdraw.

"We are also encouraged by finding that many of the candidates opposing us were brought out without a full realization of the situation, and that having learned it they have no fight against us, although remaining in the field to keep faith with those who sponsored their nominating petitions."

Council To Canvass Alley
Bids Submitted in New Boston

New Boston Council met last night with all members present, but requested very little business after Clerk Russell Midlough reported all bids opened Monday on alley improvement had not been tabulated. At the close of the session Council adjourned until next Tuesday evening, when they will go over the alley improvement bids and determine upon the type of construction to be used and low bidders. The contracts cannot be let until after the alley improvement bonds are sold July 24. Solicitor Harry Ball presented an ordinance providing for the position of village electrical inspector at a proposed salary of $200 per month. The legislation was referred back to the ordinance committee, when it was decided to incorporate in the legislation rules governing electrical installations. It is hoped that the fees collected from such inspections will pay the greater part of the inspector's salary.

Mayor Verner Bierley's report of $941.10 of fines, and fees collected during June was accepted.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

It is with deep regret that The First National Bank is called upon to mourn the loss of Mr. A. M. Danahy by death June 8, 1924, at the age of 85. Mr. Danahy was our senior director and Vice President and the last on bearing the family name that has been honorably and continuously associated with this bank in an official capacity since its organization in 1848. Mr. Danahy himself having been a director for a longer time than any other one that has ever served—forty-five years—and is about the last, if not the last man that linked up the banking and general business interests of Portsmouth to that prior to the Civil War.

Mr. Danahy was a faithful official and took special pride in observing the substantial growth of this institution that in recent years many have claimed more of his thought than any of his other interests.

In the consideration of banking problems, Mr. Danahy always leaned to that which he considered ethical and safe. He was naturally conservative and had high ideals of a bank official's duty to stockholders, depositors and the community giving loyal support with his resources and time, having attended the daily finance committee meetings long after he was somewhat crippled and up to a short time before his death. While a man of positive convictions, he was uniformly courteous to business associates and employees alike, and it is with genuine sorrow to our banking family that these business relations have been severed by death.

Therefore, it is fitting that this reference to his long and faithful service should become a part of our records and a copy of same be transmitted to his nearest living relative, Charles D. Scudder.

Nerves Restored And Sleep Is Sound, Thanks To Peppen

Miss Earle Alexander, a well known Portsmouth woman living at 101 Eleventh street, now adds her name to the ever growing list of local people who, after giving Peppen a trial, endorse it as being a medicine of unimpaired merit.

"I have read a great many accounts in the Portsmouth papers of the good that Peppen has done, but I knew of no case as wonderful as my own," said Miss Alexander. "The medicine has been of untold value to me."

"For years I had been a sufferer with stomach and kidney trouble. I had become very weak and my nerves were always on edge."

"It seemed impossible for me to eat a hearty meal without having indigestion. Attacks of gas and bloating kept me in constant misery. My sleep was not what it should be and in the morning would wake all over. My back pained me and I would have pains in my limbs and across my shoulders."

"My continued poor health made me depressed in spirits. I became so discouraged and felt as though it was too much trouble to stay alive."

"But now everything is changed. I started taking Peppen about six weeks ago. After the first week's treatment I felt improved. Then each week found me better than the week before, until now I am in as good health as I have ever been in my whole life. I sleep soundly every night. Get up in the morning fresh and rested, with a good appetite for breakfast. I don't have any more attacks of indigestion and the aches and pains are almost forgotten."

CAUTION: The genuine Peppen is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Portsmouth only at Fisher & Stretch's Pharmacy. There is a Peppen store in every nearby town.

Feel Tired, Lame, Achy?

Is a constant backache spoiling your summer? Do you feel weak, worn and achy; so miserable you can't enjoy a moment's comfort?

How about your kidneys? Well kidneys, you know, filter off the body poisons. But when the kidneys slow up, these poisons accumulate and upset the whole system. Backache is apt to follow, with sharp, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying kidney irregularities.

Don't risk neglect! Help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Sam D. Ware, Sr., Civil War Veteran, and retired steam engineer, 1133 3rd st., says: "My back became weak and stooping and lifting brought sharp pains through the small of my back. I could hardly get out of bed and felt tired and worn out. My kidneys acted too freely and the Doan's Pills from Nix's Drug Store, did me of the trouble."

Feed Now For Next Winter's Milk

Don't keep your cows on grass alone this summer if you want good milk production next winter. A. C. Palmer one of Indiana's leading dairymen says: "In 1917 I fed my cows on pasture alone until Sept. 15th when their decreasing milk flow made me hurry feed ship-ment. But the damage was done and the decrease continued until time to dry them. In 1918 I fed grain all summer and in 1919 I fed grain about the same time last year as giving 47% more milk than last season."

INTERNATIONAL SPECIAL DAIRY FEED

used with grain will not only secure a good milk production this spring and summer but will insure more milk next winter.

International Special Dairy Feed is a proven success in this locality. Scores of local farmers and dairymen testify to its worth for something "just at hand." Get the genuine International for less money.

Coolidge Notification July 24; Dawes To Be Notified July 31

WASHINGTON, July 2.—(By the A. P.)—Dawes for formal notification of President Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes, Republican vice presidential candidate of their nomination by the Cleveland convention were filed today for July 24 and 31, respectively.

The convention will mark the formal opening of the Republican campaign and plans for them were announced after the White House luncheon and conference attended by President Coolidge, General Dawes, William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee and Frank W. Stearns, personal friend of the president.

Ceremony at White House.

Notification of Mr. Coolidge will be at the White House where he expects to remain during most of the campaign, while exercises for Mr. Dawes will be at his home in Princeton, Ill.

General Dawes, accompanied by Mrs. Dawes, arrived in the city today from Chicago and went to the White House where they expect to remain until the latter part of the week. It was the first meeting between the president and his running mate since the Cleveland convention.

"For the next 90 days I am going to work," General Dawes said. "And after that I am going to speak. Then and only then shall I have something to say and I shall want it well understood at that time."

To Open Nebraska Campaign.

Definite arrangements for his speaking program, he said, would depend upon plans for Mr. Butler. His first speech, however, will be made at Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. Butler on returning here today from Boston and New York for the conference announced the appointment of George Barker, California, and New York, as director of publicity for the national committee. He declared the national organization ready for the campaign. A tentative speaking campaign has been received, he said, from Representative Stephen P. Duggan, chairman of the speakers' bureau.

MEANS CONVICTED; JURY OUT HOUR; FACES PEN TERM

NEW YORK, July 2.—(By the A. P.)—Gaston B. Means, former department of justice agent and his secretary, Elmer W. Jarnecke, last night were convicted of having conspired with bootleggers illegally to withdraw whiskey from distilleries. The jury was out one hour.

Counsel for Means and Jarnecke were given until noon tomorrow to file any contemplated motions. No date was set for sentence.

The prisoners were taken to the Tombs.

Indictments returned against them in 1923, charged that Means and Jarnecke with having entered into a conspiracy to remove 50 barrels of rye whiskey from the Sam Thompson distillery in Brownsville, Pa., to a warehouse in Pittsburgh.

The whiskey according to witnesses, belonged to John W. Hubbard, Trenton, N. J., a steel magnate, and friend of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. He admitted during the trial that desired to obtain the release of the liquor for beverage purposes and he had given Charles W. Johnson, former Uniontown, Pa., brewer, the money with which to obtain the release.

Johnson told the jury that Means had promised to help him, claiming influence with Jess Smith, friend of former Attorney General Daugherty, and of the late President Harding.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, wees, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Please give me some information about the Adams County Mineral Springs.

HANGING ROCK READER.
Mineral Springs is a quiet, restful place to spend one's vacation and may be reached by train or motor. The Cincinnati Division of the N. & W. stops there and a bus will take you from the station to the Norfolk Hotel which is the only one there at the present time. The Mineral Springs Hotel burned down some time ago. A letter addressed to the manager of the Norfolk Hotel will bring you all the information you want in regard to accommodations, rates, etc.

Dear Dolly—We are going to have a few friends visit us in a few days, and they are bringing with them some other friends whom we have never met, and I would like for you to tell me what to say to them when they come. Also what should I say when introducing them to my friends. Should I introduce them to married people as well as single folks? And Dolly there is a boy coming soon to visit my brother and I want to know if it would be all right for me to dance with him. My brother and I are the only two children in our family and I want to help him entertain this boy.

INTERESTED READER.

The people who are bringing these friends to visit you will introduce them to you and all you need to do is to shake hands with them and tell them you are glad to have them visit you, and that you hope they will like your city, etc. Of course they will have something to say, and one thing will bring on another so you won't need to feel embarrassed about meeting them. Your mother will probably take the responsibility of entertaining them off your hands, so all you will need to do is to see that they have a pleasant visit with you. She will also help you entertain your brother's guest, so you need not worry about that, either.

Dear Dolly—I am writing you in regard to my health. I have been nervous for the past six years, and I am so weak and nervous that I can't sit up at times. Four years ago I underwent an operation for a tubercular bone and appendicitis, but I am not any better now and I thought I would write and ask you what would cure me, or at least give me some relief.

MRS. BLACK EYES.
I can't give you much relief from here. About the only thing I can suggest is to consult a physician. If possible you should take a little vacation. The change would do you good, and you would forget about your nervous condition. I think a change in climate and good nourishing food would do you about as much good as medicine.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl of 16 and will enter High School next year. I go to school. Now Dolly, I want to know if my girl friends, some of my friends, are trying to persuade me not to go back to school next year. They want me to go with the boys and have a good time like other girls. Dolly, I haven't gone with the boys any because I thought that it would interfere with my studies. What do you think about it?

WANT-TO-KNOW.
I would advise you to go back to school and finish your education before you think about the boys. You can have a good time while going through high school, without letting it interfere with your studies.

Dear Dolly—I am a boy and have just come with the girls very much. Dolly, how old is a girl supposed to be before she can get married by the laws of Ohio? And Dolly what is the largest city in the state of Ohio?

KENTUCKY BOY.
A girl must be 21 years of age before she can get a license in Ohio, without the consent of her parents. Cleveland is the largest city in the state of Ohio.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"You'll never guess what those are," said the fairy grins up when she makes her coffee. The reason they are brown instead of green when you buy them in the store, is that they are rusted in the big ovens to make them taste better."

"Coffee doesn't taste good," said Nick, making a face.
"Of course not," said Johnny Jump Up. "Besides children should never touch it. They will not be healthy men and women if they drink coffee when they are growing."

"Sounds just like a lecture," snorted Tommy Timmons.
"Well, it is, sort of," said Johnny Jump Up. "But it is true that nearly everybody would be better without it. But you have got ideas how many million pounds are used each year in the world? And nearly all of it grows in South America. Go on, Tommy."

So the little bird flew on.
Next they came to some tall-looking plants with rather queer names. Johnny Jump Up recognized them as Jump Up and they had beans on them out of which chocolate was made. "Vanilla and chocolate both come from South America," he said. "Also, oranges and bananas. So I really don't see what the boys and girls would do without South America."

"I could do without it," said Tommy Timmons sleepily. "I'd like to go home. The sun is coming up and we've been on all night. Please," said Johnny Jump Up.
Tommy didn't have to be told twice.

Sallic Ann SAYS
A young woman who recently returned from a trip to New York, tells me that most of the Fifth Avenue Shops are making displays of yellow frocks and that this color is riding on an unprecedented wave of popularity in the metropolis. Naturally, then, I was pleased to see a similar display in The Fashion Shop window this morning.

There's a clever little val lace trimmed voile in canary yellow — it's $10.75. There's a lace trimmed georgette party frock—yellow also—at $26. There's a striking yellow sports frock of flat crepe with plaited skirt and vestee of cerise lace — it's $24. And a lovely collared street frock of satin canton with vertical plaid and hem of silk lace; it's $28.

The Fashion will be open all day tomorrow on account of the Fourth coming on Friday.

THE PORTSMOUTH PUBLIC SERVICE CO.

By H. G. BONNER, General Manager.

John Ainsley Master Thief Arthur Somers Roche Copyright 1924, NEA Service Inc. LEGION OF MERIT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
John Ainsley, a man of education and breeding, whose war wounds left him unfit for manual labor, pawns an ivory miniature of his mother in order to pay his week's rent to his landlady and to buy food. A prosperous-looking, fur-collared stranger, whom he saw in the pawnshop, stops Ainsley, takes him to his home, and feeds him.

The man (throws 15 or 20 thousand-dollar bills on the table, admits he is a bootlegger and an all-around crook, and attempts to enlist Ainsley as an accomplice. Justly feeling insulted, Ainsley pays the crook for his supper and leaves the room, preferring starvation—or even suicide—to accepting the other man's proposal.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
I rose from the bed and opened my suitcase. I was sure that there was nothing in it that would identify Mrs. Gannon's missing lodger as John Ainsley, but I wished to be positive. Pride forbade that even after I was dead, persons who had known me should know the humiliation of my end.
I closed the case and sat down once more upon the bed, to gather all my strength. As I sat there I thought of the man who had fed me. The display of money which he had made was assurance that he was an extremely successful criminal, probably one of those "super-criminals" created by the police to cover up their own incompetence.

I laughed at the idea. This man was nothing but the most mediocre sort of person. Beyond a vicious cunning, he possessed no mentality at all. The reason for his success lay in the fact that the men opposed to him, the police, were also mediocre. Imagine a man of real intellect devoting himself to the study of cases of crime-detection! Graduated policemen were the detectives who protected society against the schemes of such as my fur-collared friend. And while a policeman may be morally and physically an exceptional person, mentally he must be on the level of a laborer.

The supercriminal existed only in the newspapers. In reality, there was such a person as my fur-collared friend. And the limitations of that person had been made clearly evident to me to-night. He knew his limitations himself, and he asked my aid to overcome them. Why, if I chose, I could be a super-criminal, a real one, not a myth invented to please the writers of newspaper headlines and their readers.
It would serve society right if I turned against it. I was a gentleman, a man qualified to act as arbiter in matters of taste and culture, a man admirably familiar with the arts. Yet the world passed me by, and preferred to bestow its honors and rewards upon a glorified grocer or a vendor of pig-iron. It had taken ten generations of aristocratic forebears to produce me. While I did not profess to own the creative instinct, nevertheless, by sheer virtue of my family traditions, I was qualified to judge the works of creative artists and say: "This is good; that is bad."

Such as I were produced upon this earth to guide and instruct the common people. We were not meant to live in tawdry ways or the gross material things of life. The supreme achievement of evolution is the gentleman; and society permits a gentleman to starve. I can conceive no harsher indictment against society.
Then I smiled at my own bent. I had had my opportunity to become a criminal earlier this evening, and had refused it. I had no intention of changing my mind, and accepting the offer of my fur-collared friend.
So, then, let me die, as a gentleman should, without repinings, or anger, or sneers, or other vulgarities. And let me die, as unfortunately I had not recently lived, upon a full stomach.

There were places in New York where one might still dine, frugally it is true, but amid clean surroundings, in an atmosphere of breeding, for the small sum that still remained to me. Such a place was Carey's, an Italian table-d'hotel restaurant south of Washington Square. Dinner could be procured there for a dollar and a half; with twenty-five cents for cigars, there would still be a quarter for the waiter. I regretted that the check-book in the coat-room would be forced to get along without a gratuity from me. With my stomach filled, puffing at a cigar, I would stroll leisurely to the west, coming at length upon a dock on the North River. After that—who knows?

There was no need to say anything to Mrs. Gannon. Tomorrow or the next day, finding my room unoccupied, she would rent it to some one else. I had paid her for a week in advance, and she would consider my departure something in the nature of an unexpected profit. There was not the slightest danger that she would report my absence to the police. She would confiscate my poor suitcase and its meager contents, and gain still another petty profit.

So I walked downstairs, much stronger than when I had done so on my way to visit Weinberg, but still weak and hungry again. In the hall little Peter met me.

"When you go in to make a penny disappear for me, Mr. Ainsley?" he demanded.

I smiled at him. "I'm going to make something bigger than a penny disappear, Peter," I told him.

"When?" he asked.

"Pretty soon," I replied.

"Will you let me see you?" he asked.

"You'll know about it," I assured him.

Smiling at my double-entendre, I left the house. And as I walked toward Carey's, my resolution grew stronger. If a man can't live as a gentleman should live, why live at all? Life is rather unendurable at best; only comfort and luxury mitigate its severity. I laughed as I passed rows of tenements. What fools these people were to continue in the prison of life! A tragically humorous thought occurred to me: suppose that these people who lived in these grimy tenements, and in similar or worse habitations all over the world, should decide to quit the bitter struggle for mere existence? Suppose, instead of going on strike, or starting riots, or turning Bolshevik, they chose by lot a certain number, and that certain number immediately killed themselves? On the next day, another number would kill themselves, and the remainder would declare publicly their intention of following the suicidal example. In a week or two society would be so alarmed that it would be offering palaces on Fifth Avenue to the poor if they would merely consent to live.

It was, I flattered myself, a quaint conceit, as sane as most revolutionary nostrums, and I was smiling as I entered Carey's. I was still smiling as I finished a very satisfactory meal, and leaning back in my chair, consumed my eighth cigar. Life was not a complex thing, after all. At least, if one didn't find it simple, one simply stepped out of its absurd complexities.

For instance, that girl who sat across the narrow room from me would be undoubtedly better off if she joined me on my stroll to the dock than if she remained with the gross beast who was her dinner companion. For she patently showed that she disgusted her. Pretty, extremely so, with black hair and blue eyes and, I guessed from what appeared

And think of the time you'll save—especially when you are late and don't want to delay dinner for 35 or 40 minutes while the potatoes are cooking!

I KNEW HIM TO BE DARAGON, THE JEWELER.

Yet though I could see her shrink at the touch of his fishy hand upon her own, she did not push it away. She smiled, and apparently answered terms of endearment with verbal caresses. Unquestionably he was rich! Doubtless she was to share his wealth. Well, I was glad to be about to leave a world where such things were endured.

I raised my hand to beckon to my waiter. Then I dropped it, for into the room came my fur-collared friend, advancing to the table where sat the couple who had excited my disgusted interest, greeting them cordially, being hailed delightedly.

I wondered if these were part of the gang which I suspected must be associated with him. Then, noting a meaning glance exchanged between him and the girl, I knew that while she might be an associate of his, her great companion was, if not already a victim, destined to be one. I postponed my departure. I had two cigarettes left; amusement would go well with my last tobacco. And inasmuch as my acquaintance of the early evening had turned his back to me as he sat down, there was no danger that my presence would interfere with his plans—provided, of course, that he had any plans, and that I had not misinterpreted the pregnant glance between him and the girl.

As I watched the three, the gross man produced a little box from his waistcoat above the table, a charming figure, she belonged to youth, not to bloated age. And the fact that her eyes were hard and mercenary made no difference. They were so merely because advantages had been denied her. I could discern that the attentions of her companion sickened her.

He had changed greatly since I had seen him striding pompously through the aisles of his fashionable establishment. Added years of loose living had brought more flesh and that dead pallor to his face. The I recognized him; the sight of the little cardboard box had aroused remembrance. I had bought trinkets in my day.

So, wondering what might be the meaning of Daragon's presence in the company of a self-confessed crook, I watched them. I saw the girl open the little package. I saw her hands tremble as she unfasted the string that tied it. I saw her lips part in a gasp of delight. I saw her turn to my friend of the earlier evening and address words that, from her manner, seemed to be appealing.

Driver Is Fined

Harrison Howe, 25, railroad section hand at South Point, near Coal Grove, was adjudged guilty of reckless driving at a hearing in Municipal court Tuesday. Judge Sprague fined him $50 and costs and suspended his right to drive for sixty days. In passing sentence the court took into consideration the promise of the defendant to pay a claim of $75, the result of an auto accident which occurred on Scotch Trail, near the Furr farm, on June 20.

Howe, driving a Dodge touring car, in attempting to pass a Ford touring car occupied by D. T. Clark and family, of Ashland, Ky., struck the Clark car causing it to dash off the roadway and turn over. It was claimed the accused declared that he was not conscious of having caused the Clark machine to leave the road.

Charges of speeding and failing to stop and give his name after the accident were not pressed. Howe was represented by Attorney Riley of Ironton.

Must Pay Damages

After hearing from both sides in the case of Virgil Lester, 2344 Eighth street and Bruce Blewins, 2313 Eighth street, charged with reckless driving, Judge Sprague in Municipal court Tuesday dismissed Blewins and assessed the costs against Lester on condition that he pay a claim for damages which Blewins stated he had sustained by reason of a collision between their machines on Eighth street, near the viaduct a week ago.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells, and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes rosy-like and immaculate. Try it. It will do it every time.

S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. A large size is more economical.

Two years of tests prove this:

You can get greater power
—yet save 30% on gas!

Your motor was built to deliver a lot of power. If you haven't been getting it — blame the gasoline you've been getting.

Now, you can get power—speed
— quick starting — lightning pick-up. And you can save 30% of what you've been paying for gasoline yearly.

38 cars tested 2 years

Our engineers have just concluded a 2-year period of tests on 38 different cars. They used
PUROL gasoline—and kept accurate records, which prove:

That PUROL gives 3.3% greater mileage; saves 14.2% of the fuel that usually drips down into crank-cases; saves $2.98 in lubricating oil for this reason; and saves $10.33 in general repairs through the greater efficiency of lubricating oil that is not diluted.

The average car uses 500 gallons of gas yearly. So the first two savings equal $17.50 (87% gallons at 20c). The four items show a total yearly saving of $30.81—30% of the yearly gasoline bill for the average car!

Because "built" for full power
There's a real reason for the performance of PUROL. And that is that it's refined, or "built" to give fullest efficiency in your motor.

All gasoline is made up of combustible units.

From the first 10% of these units
you should get quick starting.
From the next 10% — lightning pick-up. From the rest, resistless pulling-power, speed, mileage.

These are precisely the combustible units you get in PUROL.
Because it is refined to possess them. We

Ed Moore Quits As Floor Leader For Cox; Delegation Will Stick To The Finish

NEW YORK, July 2.—(By the A. P.) Before last night's session of the Democratic national convention, the Ohio delegation at a caucus decided to stick to former Governor James M. Cox, the nominee four years ago, to the last. The delegation, with 48 votes, from the first ballot had been consistently supporting Cox.

His friends were of the opinion that a continued deadlock was probable, and that it would result in Cox's nomination as the logical compromise nominee.

Edmund Moore, national committee man from Ohio, and in charge of Cox's campaign for the presidential nomination at San Francisco in 1920, resigned tonight as floor leader of the Ohio delegation. He declined to give a reason for doing so.

Will Stay With Ohioan. Reports were current on the convention floor that at the psychological moment Moore, who was one of the leaders in the losing platform fight against the Ku Klux Klan, would deliver a substantial block of Ohio delegates to Governor Smith of New York.

After tonight's caucus members of the delegation declared they would continue to vote solidly for Cox and would throw their vote to another candidate only on being released by Cox.

Moore declared he was opposed to the nomination of Senator Ralston, Indiana. Ralston supporters made an attempt during the recess to induce Taggart to start a drive for Ralston tonight. He opposed it on the ground that there was too much to be done for Ralston tonight.

He did not get actively into the Smith-McAdoo-Davis race for first place. Say Bryan for Ralston.

Insiders insisted that William Jennings Bryan was working in perfect harmony with the Ralston campaign and could be depended on not to start an independent fight for the Hoosier senator.

His particular ambition they said, was to stop Davis and no one is urging him to get Ralston out in front at this stage of the game and use him as an implement on the Davis boom.

The Bryan attack upon the candidacy of John W. Davis, was maintained during the recess hours. Ralston of Indiana was looking up tonight as a possible compromise candidate for the Democratic national convention. When the convention after nine ballots more—making 24 in all—recessed for dinner, John W. Davis of West Virginia had made such gains that William Jennings Bryan openly declared war on the West Virginian and went about the convention floor working against him.

May Split McAdoo Delegates. After a conference with Mr. McAdoo it became known that Mr. Bryan was advising delegations that if the nomination of McAdoo was impossible he favored turning to Ralston. Thomas Taggart, Indiana, Senator Ralston's manager held various conferences with William Jennings Bryan and his brother, Charles W. Bryan, during the concluding balloting.

Should the former secretary of the treasury release his delegates, it was said by those close to Bryan, that the bulk of them would turn to Senator Ralston, though it was admitted that the McAdoo delegations bound by the unit rule held not a few delegates ready to vote for Smith.

Bryan and his friends while still sticking to McAdoo, agree that many of the delegates are getting tired and want to make a choice and that if there were a break tonight or tomorrow, it will be their effort to swing these delegates to Ralston.

Works Against Davis. Bryan first launched his drive to back Davis after Senator Harrison released the Mississippi delegation and it considered going to Davis. Bryan visited the delegation and earnestly argued against support for the West Virginian, declaring he had been connected with the party for more than a quarter of a century and never had received any aid from Davis during that time.

Despite Mr. Bryan's eloquence and character, however, the Mississippi delegation switched to Davis and stayed there during the remainder of the day. The balloting saw the elimination of another of the favorite sons besides Senator Harrison, Governor Davis, of Kansas, dropping out early in the day. Much of his strength went to McAdoo.

For Recorder R. D. McMan, better known as "Red" will appreciate your support of his candidacy for the nomination of County Recorder on the Republican ticket at the August 12th primaries.

IS THE CHAUTAUQUA TO CONTINUE? UP TO THE PEOPLE

The committee in charge of this year's Chautauqua, which opens next Saturday on the Union street lot, Tuesday issued the following statement:

Is the Chautauqua as an institution to continue in Portsmouth? That is the question that is to be determined this year by the citizens of this town. In the past there were always a great number of people who, believing in the Chautauqua and desiring it to be presented in this community, have always maintained that some group or organization should contract for its appearance, yet they have failed to support it by individual work or effort.

This year the Redpath Chautauqua is being brought to this city only by those who desire the Chautauqua and not by any individual organization, with the purpose in mind of clearing up the deficit of last year and putting the Chautauqua on a basis where it can at least break even.

With this in mind, the committee decided to purchase the Chautauqua outright, in order that it might make as large a profit as possible. The churches have lent their support to the movement to provide this form of clean, wholesome amusement and instructive entertainment, and have assisted greatly in the disposal of tickets. The season tickets have had a fair sale to date, but in order to take advantage of the option to purchase the Chautauqua outright, it will be necessary that a great many more tickets will be sold.

The proposition resolves itself then into this question: Are there enough people in this city sufficiently interested in the Chautauqua movement to support it, not only by buying tickets, but by talking it and being willing to devote some time to the preliminary work always necessary? If there are, the Chautauqua will be continued. If not? Then there is no use in forcing onto the people something they do not want.

Beetle Damaging Bean Crop

County Farm Agent W. F. Gahm, in a trip down Buena Vista pike Monday, found that the Mexican bean beetle reported in various sections of the county was causing considerable damage to the late bean crop in that section. The beetle was found on the farms of L. O. Kennedy, Rhoads Winters, Lester Winters, Earl Garvey, Bert Sutton, William Turner and others. Several of these men reported that the beetle was on their beans late last year, but as it did not cause much damage it did not pay any attention to it. This year the beetle has attacked the early crop resulting in a greatly decreased yield. It is also getting

MINER'S NERVES ARE STEADY NOW

STOMACH DISORDERS HAVE IMPROVED SINCE HE BEGAN TO TAKE NEW REMEDY, KA-DI-OK.

Mr. Lawrence E. Hawkins

Are your nerves on edge because your stomach is disabled? Are you weak and irritable because you have been deprived of food that you need to keep your body running? If you have indigestion and gastritis and have become discouraged after trying all sorts of remedies in vain, then you will be interested in hearing the statement of Mr. Lawrence E. Hawkins, of Scott Dale, W. Va., Box 38, who is employed as a miner by the Morgantown Gas-Coke Company.

"I couldn't have continued with my job if I hadn't found something to help my nerves," said Mr. Hawkins to the Ka-di-ok representative. "I was on edge all the time and so restless I thought many times that I just could not work. My stomach had been bothering me for some time and I had reached the stage where I couldn't eat at all. Nothing seemed to agree with me for my stomach was full of gas most of the time pushing and pressing against my heart."

"I noticed in the papers that many people had received such lasting benefits from Ka-di-ok so I thought it wouldn't do me any harm to try it too. I will never cease to be thankful that I did for since I began taking it I am a different person. I am feeling fine and my nerves are steady as clock work. I eat what I want and get by with it too. I am grateful to Ka-di-ok for the results in my case and can recommend it to anyone who has stomach trouble and nervous disorders."

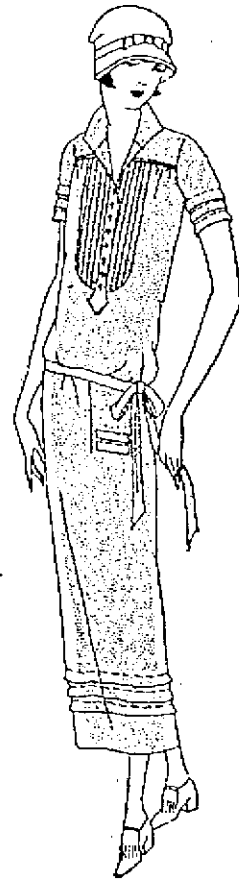

Ka-di-ok can be obtained at all drug stores in Portsmouth. —Advertisement.

ARREST OF TWO MEN HERE MAY CLEAR UP ROBBERIES HERE AND IN IRONTON

Will the arrest of two men giving their names as Roscoe Hall, 23, of Ironton, and Jess Hall, 21, 537 Second street, this city, clear up a series of robberies recently perpetrated in Portsmouth and Ironton? Local police believe there is a strong possibility that they will, and their opinion is shared by Ironton officials.

Their arrest may clear up the robberies of the Pure Oil Company station at Kinney's Lane and Scioto Trail and the robbery in the N. & W. freight house at Ironton. Monday night, in which each amounting to $300 and $2,000 in checks were taken. The blowing of the N. & W. safe at Ironton so closely corresponds with the safe blowing at the oil station on the 24th of June that officials believe the men being held know something about both jobs.

Yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Rouse Arthur, with N. & W. Detectives Pratt and Leach, went to Ironton and with the Ironton police arrested Roscoe Hall on suspicion. At first he was wanted by Chief Arthur only in connection with the oil station robbery here, his arrest being warranted after a thorough investigation of the affair, officials averred. After learning of the N. & W. robbery at Ironton, however, it was decided to question him about both affairs.

It is alleged that the same kind of dials and soap were used in the oil station job and the safe blowing at Ironton. Hall had been recently released from the Ironton jail on a $1,000 bond on a charge of stealing an automobile in that city. He was brought here at ten o'clock last night by Chief Arthur. In the meantime Officer Harding arrested Jess Hall in connection with the same robbery.

One Man Identified

The men were confronted by R. C. Spangler, who after looking at them both in the car and out of it, positively identified Roscoe Hall as one of the men whom he saw drive away from the oil station the night of the local robbery. Spangler, who lives next door to the station, approached the two robbers just after they had loaded the safe in a car and were ready to start. John F. Wilhelm, who was also with Mr. Spangler, was also called to identify the men and he said he was certain he had seen Roscoe Hall in the machine the night of the robbery. Neither of the men, however, could positively identify Jess Hall as the man who was with him as he, the smaller of the two men, had his back turned and was in such a position that it was impossible for the local men to get a good look at him.

Roscoe indignantly denied that he was the man who was seen by Spangler and said he had not been in Portsmouth for a year, a statement that is being checked up by Chief Arthur.

Roscoe was also confronted with Mark Slaughter, Chy township constable and James Keyser, deputy sheriff, who identified him as one of two men with whom they had a revolver duel recently. They were returning from Lighthouse Beach and scouting up Lindsay Hollow, ran in to a machine by the side of the road. A man was lying down in the front seat and another in the back.

Scattered about in the car were various kind of tools, extra hats, coats, etc. The officers told the men they were going to search the car, when the two pulled guns, and an exchange of bullets followed before the men succeeded in getting away from the scene in their car.

At that time Officer Keyser said he was sure a bullet from his gun shattered the steering wheel of the fleeing car, and Slaughter said one of his bullets went through the side of the car. The automobile which was abandoned by the gas station yeggs and which is now in Chief Arthur's possession has a new steering wheel and there is a hole through one of the rear doors. The license number is 957,993, which investigation showed was issued to C. Hall of 502 South Second street, Ironton. No such man is known at that place, Chief Arthur has found.

Chief Checking Up

The engine number of the Ford is 5,560,048, and this morning Chief Arthur began checking up to see who owned the car. The car, it was found, was sent from the Cincinnati car market to Huntington in April, 1922, and was sold that same month to a Huntington man. Chief Arthur will probably go to Huntington to trace the car from its first owner to the present owner.

Additional evidence to connect up the series of robberies here with the depot robbery at Ironton is found in the fact that Chief Arthur has a soiled handkerchief, a vital and yellow soap identical in kind with a vital, yellow soap and a fragment of a handkerchief found at the scene of the Ironton robbery. A similar handkerchief was found on Roscoe Hall, officers say.

Missouri's Desertion of McAdoo Retaliation for Defeat of Champ Clark

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, July 2.—(By the Associated Press)—When the Missouri delegation left McAdoo yesterday, friends of the late Champ Clark said the day they had been waiting for since 1912, had arrived.

Next to William Jennings Bryan, Clark's friends always felt, McAdoo had as much as any man to do with the defeat of Clark at the Baltimore convention. From the opening of the present convention Clark's old followers, led by his son, Bennett, have operated under only one slogan, "Get After McAdoo."

"I don't care whom they nominate so long as they defeat McAdoo," Bennett said, as hour after hour, day after day, he circulated among delegates.

Joseph Whannan did everything he could to swing the delegation away from McAdoo beginning with distributing a letter from a supreme court justice attacking McAdoo, charging from the platform that McAdoo money was used.

Senator Reed, another old friend of Clark's and bitter enemy of McAdoo, aided with a statement from a sick bed.

Norman B. Mack, floor manager of Smith's campaign was jubilant over the defection of the Missouri delegation from the McAdoo forces.

"McAdoo has little or no reserve to throw in now," said Mack, "while we have reserves that have yet to be shown."

The Mack leaders said they would keep up the pounding all day long and through the night to weaken the McAdoo delegations.

NOISE IS NOT PATRIOTISM

FOURTH OF JULY this year should be a safe and sane and thoroughly patriotic observance of Independence Day. The old-time riot of noise, death, fire and destruction which was supposed to show patriotism, would be very much out of place under present conditions. The country has had enough of powder-burnings, bombs and the maimings and burnings which were inevitable with the old-time celebration. They were discontinued during the war, and they should be given up forever.

The Sane Fourth movement has made remarkable progress in the past few years, and this year should see the end of the old absurdity of celebrating the nation's birthday with pistols and crackers, with their inevitable accompaniment of racing ambulances and clanging fire engines. The deaths from Fourth of July casualties which were 465 in 1903, had been reduced by 1923 to 35, while the injuries, which were 3,983 in the first year, fell last year to 720. Formerly the firemen expected to be kept on the jump all day on the Fourth, but for several years, in Chicago and many other cities where fireworks have been prohibited, the number of alarms has actually been below the daily average. Make the Fourth of July a Festival of Liberty, and not a saturnalia of death, noise and destruction.

AS TO PARTY PLATFORMS

THE Democratic national convention has openly repudiated the league of nations as a party principle and thereby arises an inquiry.

What is a party platform written for anyway? Four years ago the league of nations was the big point in the campaign. The Democratic candidate met with a defeat unparalleled in elections.

He who did not accept that point was regarded as a party traitor and as a rule put himself outside its pale, for the time being, at least, by voting with the enemy.

Four short years and the issue is laid in the grave by those same hands that molded it into being.

What then constitutes a Democrat, what a Democratic party?

For that matter what constitutes a Republican, what constitutes a Republican party?

For the case is no different on the Republican side. Four years ago it was against the league of nations, and all its works.

Today, its platform declares for America entering the world's court of justice, which is the big and only vital point of the league.

Four years from now the Republican party will be advocating entrance into the league of nations.

Mark the prediction. Today the problem is: When is a Democrat not a Democrat? And the answer is when a Republican is not a Republican.

THE SHIP AND THE SUN

THE Columbus Dispatch seems to do well in chiding The New York Post for its ridiculous claim that Lieutenant Maughan had beaten the sun in his air race across the continent.

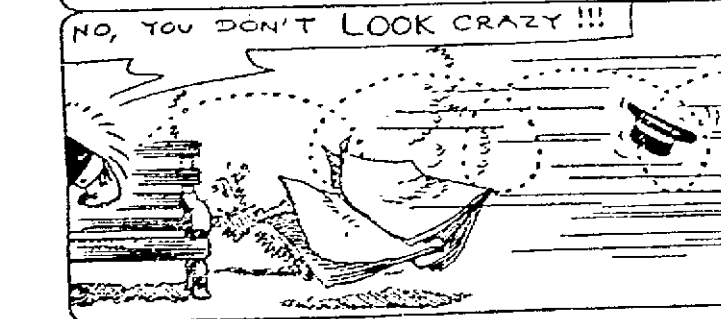

The Post's false assertion would not be so absurd if it did not set down in absolute violation of fact, that Maughan had left New York after daylight and reached San Francisco before sunset, when, as a matter of fact the hours of his departure was 2:27 and he was well across Pennsylvania before the peep of day, while he arrived at San Francisco in the full darkness of night, 9 o'clock.

Lieutenant Maughan's feat was so marvelous that it ought not to be cheapened by foolish exaggeration.

After all, though, may be none of us have a right to cast a stone at the Post. Haven't we all blithely alluded to Maughan's achievement as a dawn to sunset flight over the land?

EVERETT TRUE

FAILED TO IMPRESS

WE do not find any commendation in the Democratic platform of the government for itself engaging in operating passenger ships.

Nor, as is not to be expected, do we find therein any advocacy of a government ship subsidy.

Thus do the best laid plans of men and mice gang aglee. The Democratic delegates in New York all of last week, and fearful of being corralled therein all of this week, were invited to come aboard and inspect the lordly Leviathan, then in port. Doubtless, many of them accepted.

If so they saw the largest ship in the world, operated directly by this government. Her palatial appointments were pointed out to them and may be more liquid form of entertainment provided.

One thing sedulously unadvertised to was that the Leviathan isn't paying for the oil she is consuming as fuel. The biggest, the most sumptuously appointed vessel, she fails to draw a full complement of passengers even in these summer days, when everybody is off to Europe.

Aye, saddest of all, she isn't getting anything like an even break with other craft, operated by foreigners.

Of a verity so deep doth calamity hedge her about that she is doing the biggest digging of the fifty million dollar hole that the federal shipping board finds itself in from the beginning of January to the end of December.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 2.—It has been a tough treat for chorus girls this summer season. Those who haven't found millionaires in a matrimonial mood are living on doughnut fare. The road shows have closed and there's no more Hippodrome choruses or Shubert vaudeville.

To date there has been only three past summer shows and they are skimping in their choruses. Coupled with all this Broadway is short on Johns. They have taken refuge in their purses. An evening at the movies and a snack at a rapid fire lunch is their speed.

Just now there are 2,500 choruses out of jobs. The Stage Door Inn, which provides positions as waitresses for jobless chorus girls, has a waiting list of more than 500. Those who are working get only one day a week.

In the Fall there isn't much hope either. Three more English reviews with their own choruses are scheduled and the Folies Bergere is coming over with a lot of French girls. Madame Antoinette, whose boarding house is a haven for show girls, is in bankruptcy.

Madam held out for a better day and spent her $3,000 savings trying to stem the tide. The general slump has also hit the chorus man. He is returning to the ribbon counter seeing no light in the dismal depths.

Around noon hundreds of them clog about theatrical agencies in the Forties. Usually full of bright, wisecracking character, they are now glum. Many of them know that in a few more weeks they must return to the prairie cottage and village street from whence they came.

The lot of the chorus girl is becoming unpalatable each season. Their wages, considering the few months of the year they are employed, are comparatively small. The self-respecting ones who do not gold-dig on the side are generally living in actual poverty.

Thirty thousand women had their hair bobbed in one week in Manhattan, according to figures compiled by a reporter who visited 56 of the leading bobbing parlors. Oh, yes! reporters now "cover" the bobbing parlors. Scandal thrives in them.

A friend of mine who owns a chain of sidewalk orange drink stands permitted me to act as clerk in one near the Winter Garden the other afternoon. It must be a prosperous business, for in three hours I took in twenty odd dollars. It was rather a pleasant experience, save for the pudgy man who snapped his finger at me to serve him and said: "Make it snappy, George."

It was interesting, too, to see the public attitude toward one who is holding down a rather unimportant job. It seemed to me invariably the best dressed folk were more courteous. I splashed some of the orange drink on a debonair but portly gentleman dressed in the height of fashion. My apology was abrupt. "Tut, tut," he said, "life is full of accidents." He probably thought: "If it were not for an accident I might be holding down your job." I wanted to ask him what fling of fate made him appear so prosperous.

A married man was driving a young girl home from a cabaret. As they were bowling along Central Park West the man nodded. When he awakened the taxicab door was open and his companion was gone. He supposed she had become indignant at lack of attention and when the cab was caught in a traffic jam he popped out. He didn't know until next morning that in some fashion she had fallen out on her head, crushed her skull and died. Copyrighted, 1924, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Why So Pale?
Why so pale and wan, fond lover?
Prethens, why so pale?
Will, when looking well can't move her,
Looking ill prevail?
Prethens, why so pale?

Why so dull and mute, young sinner?
